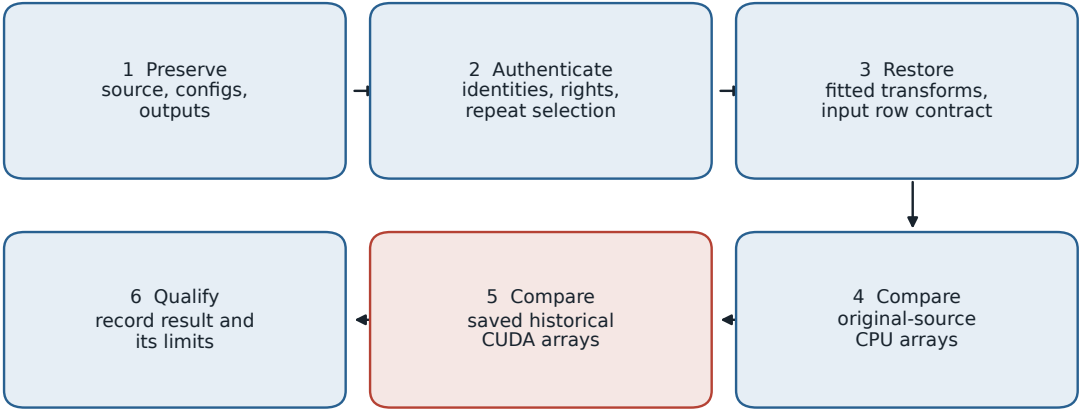
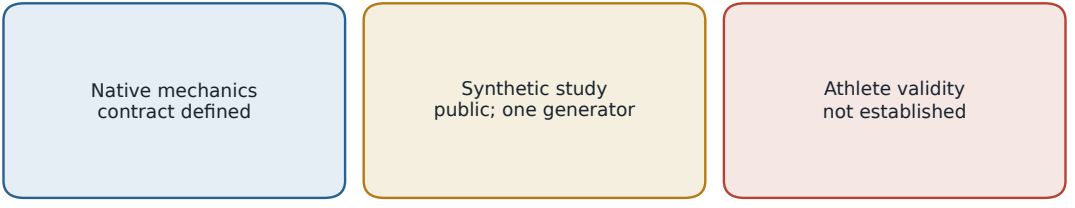
Computational reproducibility and scientific validity are separate



Scientific validity requires evidence beyond a successful computation



The diagram reports evidence boundaries, not a model-readiness score.